Off and Running in the Seniors...

AT72

In the Jacobs/Woolsey match, Jacobs and Beatty cue bid their way to five hearts when Jacobs cued the club king at the five level. There should have been a way to stop in game. Jacobs 3H bid was limited but Beatty still believed slam was a possibility and cue bid 4D. The ambiguity of this cue ... control or strength... created a problem for Jacobs. If the cue was simply a strong hand in support of hearts, Jacobs liked his hand and needed to find out about spade controls. He bid 5C and when Beatty showed a diamond control, he signed off in 5H. It is somewhat surprising that Beatty didn't continue with 5S given his strong holding in that suit.

Against 5H, Cohen led the ace of clubs and a club, and waited for his two heart tricks. The result: down one.

At the other table, Woolsey had no problem simply raising 3H to 4H since their Precision style made it easy to judge that slam was unlikely.

Against 4H, the opening lead was a spade. Stewart made the normal play of finessing the queen and went down one, losing a spade, a club and two hearts... just another push board.

In the Lynch/Deutsch match, Weichsel put the maximum pressure on East/West when he bid 4D. East, could not be			1H	Pass

course, West played his partner for a better hand for the auction.	5D	Pass	5H	All Pass

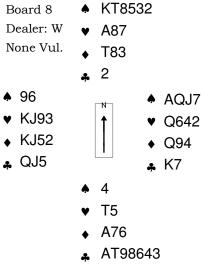

Larsen cuebid 5D. When Deutsch signed off in 5H, Larsen thought for some time before passing. Again, the ace of clubs was led and 5H failed.

At the other table, North/South played 3D doubled. That contract also failed... and it was anything but another push board!!

Playing Precision, Woolsey/Stewart were able to remain at the level of game. Perhaps in Standard, this hand should simply be opened 4H to avoid this problem.

For those of you with a hand record, Deep Finesse says 4H can be made. This involves disdaining the spade finesse, discarding two spades on diamonds, ruffing a spade, leading a club to the queen, ruffing another spade, followed by ace of hearts, queen of hearts, eventually endplaying South who will be down to all clubs!

Nice play for the computer, but not the line of choice for us mere humans.

In one room, Jacobs, opposite a passed hand partner, decided to make an aggressive game bid when 3C was passed around to him.

The spade four was led and won by the queen. Declarer played the four of hearts to the jack and ace, and North returned his singleton club. South won the club ace and gave North his ruff. North returned the favor and gave South a spade ruff. South cashed the diamond ace and the contract was down two.

In another match, Deutsch, holding the same cards, chose to bid only 3H. Lair attempted to make the clever lead of a low diamond. This was a massive failure. Somehow, North/South avoided taking any of their ruffs and Deutsch scored +170.

The interesting part about this hand is that East/West should be able to find the successful 3NT. East knows that South likely has a singleton spade, therefore, he should assume his partner has a basically flat hand. There is no assurance that partner has four hearts and since the point count for game might be marginal, East should either opt for the nine trick game or balance with double. Either of these actions would be successful.

Howie Doing...

The Women's continues and I'm standing pat. I could care less if Limey likes that!

The Seniors is easy. I think it's a cinch. Deutsch will be done for and I'm picking Lynch.

They may be nice guys but they're less than divine. I'm picking Schwartz to beat up Levine.

Kasle be playing in USA2. O'Rourke is gonna make quick work of you!

Woolsey and Stewart have it in tow. Milner's guys play at a pace way too slow.

Cappelli and Eisenstein haven't a chance. They're gonna do the flying home dance.

One out of four, Kranyak will rate. And Jacobs can watch his kid graduate!

Irina Levitina and Kerri Schuman

Danny Sprung and Sally Wheeler

Gads but there was some bad predicting by Howie Dung. There was also some bad bridge played. They tell me the format is not conducive to getting a proper repast at any time resembling suppertime. I've not received too many glowing reports of anything yet.

In the Seniors, Woolsey was the runaway leader at the turn and will handily dispatch Milner. Woolsey and Stewart are on a mission and will prevail.

Schwartz rolls over Levine like a Lorry without brakes.

O'Rourke finally finds an event that is her style and puts paid to Kasle, who retires ahead of time.

Lynch, having barely survived, gets new life when the old warhorse, Seymon, underbids once too often. After all, Lynch is really just up-country from me.

In the loser's bracket which is aptly named, Jacobs play less badly than the rest and is granted a one day reprieve.

Ladies, ladies and more ladies. Only one upset lurking, and Bales had better play as if the IRA was back. Moss continues to amaze 4 handed, while Dinkin comes all the way back from being left at the Parsonage and claims the prize. Joel is in the stable and only Westheimer could be a lurker-on.

Limey Jack will get some needed rest, some breakfast of kippers and herring, and trounce that silly fool who dares to prognosticate.

Cheers...

Hayden picked an inopportune time to open a weak two on a bad suit with a good side suit. There really wasn't much Passell could do to explore for slam. Had he asked for shortness, he would have been instantly turned off by Hayden's spade response.

Had he asked for keycards, he wouldn't know if partner's only key was the king of trump or the ace of clubs. Even if partner holds the club ace, he could never picture the great club spots.

He made the sensible 4H call and missed the a good slam which makes on the successful club finesse.

Miller did not open a weak 2H, allowing Wickham to open 1C. When Miller responded one heart, Wickham raised to game.

Miller thought long and hard but finally passed.

Should an experienced partnership reach slam on these cards?

If West could rebid 3D showing an invitational or better splinter, East should recognize the power of his club holding and bid 4C. If West then cues his ace of diamonds and ace of spades, East will have an easy time Blackwooding and bidding slam.

Approximations:

A penguin swims at a speed of approximately 15 miles per hour. A person uses approximately fifty-seven sheets of toilet paper each day.

An adult porcupine has approximately 30,000 quills on its body, which are replaced every year.

Annually, approximately 46 millions Cokes, five million pounds of French fries, and seven million hamburgers are consumed at Walt Disney World Resort.

Approximate number of facial expressions dogs can make: 100. Approximately 125 people die in the United States from an anaphylaxis to foods each year.

Approximately 20% of Americans have a passport.

Approximately 200 pets are buried in a pet cemetery out of the thousands of pets that die each day.

Approximately 25,000 workers died during the building of the Panama Canal, and approximately 20,000 of them contracted malaria and yellow fever.

Approximately 850 peanuts make a 18 oz jar of peanut butter. Approximately one out of four injuries by athletes involve the wrist and hand.

Babies' eyes do not produce tears until the baby is approximately six to eight weeks old.

Dill seeds are so small that approximately 10,000 dill seeds would be required to make an ounce.

Every year, surgical tools are left in approximately 1,500 patients in the USA. Fatter patients are more prone to having a surgical tool left inside of them due to the additional amount of space in their bodies. Flamingos are able to fly at a speed of approximately 55 kilometers an hour. In one night they can travel about 600 km. In New York City, approximately 1,600 people are bitten by other humans.

In the United States, approximately seven billion pounds of chocolate and candy are manufactured each year. Once a human reaches the age of 35, he/she will start losing approximately 7,000 brain cells a day. The cells will never be replaced.

Our galaxy has approximately 250 billion stars.

Sea water is approximately 3.5 percent salt. The Eiffel Tower is painted approximately once every 7 years and requires nearly 50 tons of paint each time.

The Empire State Building in New York City weighs approximately 365,000 tons.

The eyeball of a human weighs approximately 28 grams. There are approximately 13,000 identifiable varieties of roses throughout the world.

There are approximately 2,700 different species of mosquitoes. There are approximately 250,000 sweat glands in your feet. There are approximately 45 billion fat cells in an average adult. There are approximately 7,000 feathers on an eagle. There are approximately 75,000,000 horses in the world. There are approximately 9,000 taste buds on the tongue. There are approximately fifty Bibles sold each minute across the world.

You need approximately 2,000 berries to make one pound of coffee.

The Detroit Zoological Society

Those who created the Society in 1911 included men from some of the city's most respected families: Alger, Larned, Bagley, Joy, Chalmers, Denby, Ford. By 1912, the group was sufficiently organized and financed to hire Richard E. Follett, a zoologist and naturalist from New York City, as its secretary. He ran the day-to-day operations and would become a central figure in the Detroit Zoo's development during the next 15 years.

The early years were spent acquiring land. In 1914, 216 acres were purchased near the Rouge River, but were sold in 1915 to Ford Motor Company at a profit, becoming part of the huge Ford Rouge complex. Then 150 acres were bought near the Detroit Golf Club at Six Mile Road. That piece, too, was eventually sold profitably. Meanwhile, Society leaders tried unsuccessfully to get the City of Detroit to appropriate funds for the Zoo. In April 1916, the Society decided to go ahead on its own, purchasing 100 acres near Ten Mile Road, west of Woodward Avenue, in Royal Oak.

Follett began developing this privately held park by transplanting trees and creating rough landscaping. He cut a service road through the property. And he started raising pheasants and other game birds there, forerunners of the thousands of animals that would eventually come to the Zoo grounds. All this work was paid for with funds loaned by individual Society members.

Once the Woodward site was obtained, Follett hired a Boston landscape architect, Arthur A. Shurtleff, to begin creating a design for the park in 1916. His plans incorporated barless exhibits, lakes, the bird house and other features that were realized a dozen years later, even though others took over the final design.

Society leaders, hoping to turn their park over to public ownership, tried to get Detroit to accept the site. However, the City charter prohibited acceptance, and pleas to the state legislature failed. The Society also suggested a "Tri-County Zoo" under the auspices of Wayne, Macomb and Oakland counties. Although this idea was supported by the news media, Wayne County said no. The Society tried many approaches to giving the Zoo to a governmental entity, including a proposal to make it a state park.

Finally, in March 1923, Detroit's Common Council approved an advisory referendum to accept the gift and supported a five-year millage to finance the Zoo. Mayor James Couzens told newspapers that "a friend of his" would give the City 160 acres adjoining the propertyample land for a public golf course if people would vote for acceptance. Still, some councilmen tried to force development of a zoo at Rouge Park, a location supported by real estate investors.

Voters approved the Society's gift of land and the millage to support it. Couzens' anonymous friend, Horace Rackham, then fulfilled his promise, which resulted in the Rackham Golf Course abutting the Zoo.

A year later, Detroiters voted to create a fourman Detroit Zoological Park Commission to operate and develop the site. The first Commission meeting was on October 1, 1924. At this point, the Detroit Zoological Park became a legal reality, and Society Secretary Follett was named its first director.

Three elderly gentlemen were talking about what their grandchildren would be saying about them fifty years from now.

"I would like my grandchildren to say, 'He was successful in business'," declared the first man.

"Fifty years from now," said the second, "I want them to say, 'He was a loyal family man'."

"When I read about the evils of drinking, I gave up reading."

- Henny Youngman

Turning to the third gent, the first gent asked, "So what do you want them to say about you in fifty years?"

"Me?" the third man replied. "I want them all to say, "He certainly looks good for his age'!"

Old Aunt Cora went to her doctor to see what could be done about her troublesome constipation. "It's terrible," she said to the doctor. "I haven't moved my bowels in more than a week."

"I see. Have you done anything about it?" asked the doctor.

"Oh, yes," Aunt Cora replied, "I sit in the bathroom for a good half of an hour in the morning and then again at night."

"No," the doctor said, "I mean do you take anything?"

"Of course I do." she answered, "I take a magazine."

Three older Jewish mothers were sitting on a park bench in Miami Beach talking about (what else?) how much their sons love them.

Sadie said, "You know the Manet painting hanging in my living room? My son, Irving, bought that for me for my 75th birthday. What a good boy he is, and how much he loves his mother."

Gertie said, "You call that love? You know that new Cadillac I just got for Mother's Day? That's from my son Bernie. What a doll."

Golda, in turn, replied, "That's nothing. You know my son Stanley? He's in analysis with a psychoanalyst on Park Ave. Five sessions a week - and what does he talk about? ME."

An elderly woman decided to have her portrait painted. She told the artist, "Paint me with diamond earrings, a diamond necklace, emerald bracelets, a ruby broach, and gold Rolex."

"But you are not wearing any of those things." replied the artist.

"I know," the woman said. "It's just in case I should die before my husband. I'm sure he will remarry right away, and I want his new wife to go crazy looking for all of that jewelry."

SCHEDULE OF PLAY FOR SENIORS USA2 RR

This Round Robin is the Round of 16 for USA2 and takes place on Wednesday, June 8th.

There are 5 teams in this Round Robin, the 4 USA1 Quarterfinal losers and the survivor of the USA2 Round of 64 & 32, played on Tuesday, June 7th. Teams will be numbered in Seeding Point order.

The matches are being played "BAM" style, so the same lineup plays for two segments at a time, and you will not be able to compare until after 2 segments have been played.

The 14 board matches will be played in 7 board halves. Each player on each team must play against each other team ("Balanced Play Requirement").

Dinner break from 3:45-6:00.

HOSPITALITY SUITE INFORMATION

Players and volunteers are welcome at all times during those hours.

The USBF is funding morning hospitality and the Michigan Bridge Association is funding the rest.

Local hosts, Bill and Sandy Arlinghaus, will staff the suite. Players and volunteers should feel free to come up and hang out...as their home away from home.

Breakfast will be available in the suite, 6910, in the mornings.

A light supper will be provided between sessions.

Wine, beer, and snacks will be available after the last session.

At other times, snacks and soft beverages will be available.

Tour information and restaurant information will be available in the suite.

Vugraph

The 2011 USSBC will be covered on BBO Vugraph starting with the Quarter-finals. We hope to cover 4-8 tables in play in the Quarter-finals, all 4 tables in play in the Semi-finals and both tables in the USA1 Finals and USA2 Finals. We may be able to cover some of the matches in the earlier rounds of the USA2 Bracket as well.

The 2011 USWBC will be covered on BBO Vugraph starting with the Semi-finals. We hope to cover all 4 tables in play in the Semifinals and both tables in the Finals and Playoffs.

To watch the Vugraph online, go to the BBO website where you can either log on directly from your browser, go to "Vugraph" and choose which table to watch, or download the BBO software to run BBO on your computer. If you choose the latter approach, after downloading, install the software on your computer, log on, follow the directions to become a BBO member and you'll be magically transported to the Lobby of the largest bridge club in the world. Click on the button labeled VUG-RAPH and you'll be able to choose which of the USWBC matches you want to watch.

Each day's schedule is the same (these are Detroit times; to see the times for your time-zone, go to the BBO Vugraph schedule site)

11:00-1:15; 1:30-3:50; 6:00-8:15; 8:30-10:50

In the Quarterfinals, each match will play a different set of boards. In the Semi-Finals and Final, all of the teams will play the same boards, but for security reasons, if one match is sufficiently behind that we have to start it later than the other one, we will not start the Vugraph broadcast until both matches have started play.

After a session, you can review the Vugraph action on our Web Vugraphs, which show each hand played with a link to bidding and play records. Take a look at the older events currently available (under Archived Results) to see what we'll have for the 2011 USSBC. Web Vugraphs are posted within about half an hour of completion of the Vugraph show.

The youth group from a local church in Millersville held a fund-raiser for a local charity group last weekend. Each participating youth collected sponsors for their performance in a "rock-a-thon". On Saturday night, the rock-a-thon took place – each youth had pledged to spend the night rocking in a rocking chair. The fund raiser was deemed a success as everyone made it through most of the night, although in the wee hours of the morning a number had dozed off briefly and needed to be gently reminded of their goal. Determine the full name of each participating youth, the number of people who sponsored each youth, and at what time each had briefly fallen asleep and for how long.

1. Keith fell asleep an hour after Mr. Gallant but he slept for two minutes more. Mr. Connelly slept for five minutes.

2. Ten people sponsored the youth who fell asleep two hours before Mr. Larsen. The youth who fell asleep at 12:30am had twelve sponsors.

3. The person who slept for ten minutes had eight sponsors. Jeremy, whose last name wasn't Bradley, had two less sponsors than Mr. Larsen but four more sponsors than the one who fell asleep at 2:30am.

4.Mr. Connelly fell asleep after Adam but two hours before the youth who'd gotten sixteen sponsors. The youth whose last name was Bradley slept for two minutes longer than Keith.

5. Elias, whose last name wasn't Bradley, fell asleep at 2:30am but he didn't sleep for three minutes.

6. Carl Durgess didn't have fourteen sponsors but he did sleep for three minutes less than the youth who fell asleep at 3:30am.
